Understand. She is still traveling today so I am not sure if she will be able to get anything posted by the of the day today or not. The chart was supplied to the EPA on Monday afternoon.

No, that was it. Just wanted to get everything to Carolyn that she needs so we're not holding up any information release to the public. We would rather direct inquiries to the EPA website rather than answering any direct questions about results.

Joe

Is the chart you are discussing, the updated ambient air analytical results? If so, yes we have supplied that information to her for their records, along with the 3rd party validation report. If there is something else you are referring to, please let me know.

Brad - have we supplied Carolyn with the updated chart we looked at yesterday? We're hearing that CBS will be putting out a report that makes it seem like we're holding up the process.

Carolyn - can we expect to see the chart and/or actual results posted on the EPA website? When do you think that would happen? Thanks.
